RULE IN OAKLAND

"LITTLE CITIZENS' COMMITTEE" RULES PLAYGROUND WITH STRONG HAND

By a kind of inspiration Miss Pearl Banks, superintendent of the summer playgrounds of Oakland, Cal., conceived the idea of putting the regulation of manners and morals of the children into the hands of a children's committee. This scheme was immediately carried out and is now working beautifully.

The committee is styled "The Little Citizens Committee" and has gone into commission on the Bella Vista playground as an experiment. The experiment is succeeding beyond expectation. The committee is composed of boys. Miss Banks chose ten boys from different neighborhoods close to the playground, formed them into a "Little Citizens Committee" and asked them to draw up rules and regulations.

The boys were allowed to make the rules as they saw fit. They were formally adopted by the committee and then ratified in their original form by the Board of Playground Directors. They were then placed in the field house and the "Little Citizens Committee" sees to it that they are strictly enforced. Regular policemen could watch no more sharply for infractions of the rules than they, and when a member of the committee sees a violation of the law he promptly hales the offender before his brother committeemen and a trial takes place.

Other rules of the committee are as follows:

"No cigarettes. They're no good. Any body found smoking will be shown the gate."

"You've got to keep paper and trash off the grounds. If you eat here, do it decent and take the refuse away with you. If you don't, look out for trouble."

"Small children must be given a chance all the time. If any boy takes anything away from a little kid, he'll get his."

"Say 'Thanks.' It don't hurt you, and being polite ain't a crime."

The penalty for violation of the rules ranges from a fine of one cent to expulsion from the playgrounds for a month. And the ruling of the committee is not questioned.

The work of the committee has been closely watched by the Board of Playground Directors, and if it is the success it promises to be, the system will be recommended for adoption on all 39 playgrounds in Oakland.

MRS. MARTIN HOSTESS

Mrs. H. H. Martin, who has been chairman of the hospitality committee of the Tuesday Afternoon club for the past year, entertained the members of her committee very delightfully at her new home, 945 Gramercy Place, Los Angeles, Friday afternoon. The ladies present were: Mesdames G. W. Elliott, H. R. Goodwin, Frank Hester, W. W. McElroy, E. L. Parke, Alfred Pearce, F. W. Pigg, Walter Stamps, John Robert White, Jr., J. F. Hearnshaw, E. S. McKee and W. E. Evans of the hospitality committee; Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, past president, and Mrs. Daniel Campbell, first vice president. Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, the new president of the club, was detained at home by illness.

This was a very pretty affair in the form of a luncheon which was served at small tables, the club colors, green and gold, being carried out very tastefully in the decorations. Golden baskets of coreopsis adorned the tables while the place cards were hand decorated with daffodils and the souvenirs were golden baskets of bon bons. The guests were entertained with music during the afternoon.

JUVENILE BOOKS

Mrs. Danford, city librarian, has issued a bulletin of juvenile books for summer reading which is being distributed among the younger patrons of the library. This is in line with the story hour which Mrs. Danford is conducting once a week at the library in the endeavor to assist the children in the selection of books and to direct their reading in the proper channels.

Bulletins of new books for adults will be issued later.

JOINT PICNIC

It is expected that there will be a large attendance at the joint picnic of the three women's societies of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Glendale, which will be held next Tuesday at Echo Park. All ladies of the church are cordially invited to attend. Bring sandwiches and one other article; also plate, knife, fork and spoon.

REFORESTATION

GEORGE H. MAXWELL URGED PREPARATION FOR WAR IN ADDRESS LAST NIGHT

As previously announced George H. Maxwell spoke on the subject of reforesting the water-producing lands of California and other states of the union Friday evening in the auditorium of the High School building.

The meeting was called to order by T. W. Watson, who had been appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to arrange all details concerning the meeting.

The audience was not a large one and Mr. Maxwell used this fact as an illustration of how slow people are to be interested in important questions until the crisis comes, when it is too late to protect themselves from destructive floods, pestilence, earthquakes and warring nations. Mr. Maxwell referred to the Galveston storm and flood, as being something that came on the people at a time when they were not prepared for such a disaster. Before the time of that great flood it would have been impossible to have aroused the attention of the people to the possible great danger. After the loss of many lives and many dollars' worth of property the people became awake to the need of protecting themselves during a similar storm which might come in future years and now the city is in a condition of safety from a like catastrophe. He referred also to the great loss of life from the yellow fever scourge in New Orleans and pointed out that the people of that city remained in a state of lethargy for many years, allowing their fellowmen to die like flies until the government took hold of the situation and so improved the sanitary conditions of that city that now no deaths occur from yellow fever. Although it was pointed out to the citizens of San Francisco that an earthquake might occur in that territory and that it was not safe to extend the main water pipes over certain portions of the city liable to be affected by the earth's trembling, yet these citizens gave no heed and became conscious of their folly when the main artery of the water system was put out of use by the opening of the earth at a place where geologists had predicted.

Mr. Maxwell places great stress upon the importance of reforesting the mountains from which the water is supplied to the valleys and lowlands. He said that mountains in the desert state will permit sand, gravel and boulders to be washed from their surface to the lowlands and as this process is carried on the lowlands will become covered with a non-productive substance. To overcome this washing process trees should be planted on these mountain deserts and as has been proven by experiment, the water at the time of great rains will be held in check and will find its way slowly to the valleys and instead of carrying sand, gravel and boulders it will flow clear and pure, serving as a means of irrigation of the thousands of acres of land in the valleys.

Mr. Maxwell believes that this work of planting trees and cultivating and protecting the forests can be carried on by men under the direction of the government, which men also might be trained as soldiers who would be ready to protect our country in time of war. He believes that the government might arrange to set aside one acre of land for a sufficient number of men on conditions that that land be cultivated in such a manner that they may obtain from it a living and that these men be trained as soldiers under the direction of the military department of the government and that they be ready to defend their country at a time of invasion from without.

Mr. Maxwell stated very emphatically that it is his opinion that the United States is not prepared at present to go to war with foreign nations, and we are sorry to say that he referred to the present citizenship of the United States as weaklings and that there is not that material among our men from which great statesmen might arise at the time of a need. The speaker thinks we are spared from destructive attacks from Japan only on account of their mercy toward us and it is his opinion that Germany and England will not heed the requests made by the United States as to their discontinuing submarine destruction.

Mr. Maxwell gave Germany and Japan as examples of being populated by a people who cultivate the soil in an advantageous manner and are prepared to protect their countries in time of war. He says the Americans are following in the steps of the English and are not cultivating the soil to the greatest extent possible and are not prepared to protect themselves at a time of war with other

CITRUS FRUIT TRADE

SHIPPERS GETTING BETTER PRICES FOR LEMONS AND ORANGES

After a very poor season for navel oranges shippers are glad to be able to state that prices are improving. For a long time it did not pay to ship lemons east. Growers were dissatisfied and imagined the packers might do better with them, while, as a matter of fact, the packers did not do more than realize freights.

Mr. E. B. Murphy, local agent of the Salt Lake Railway company and also of the American Express company, said to a representative of the Glendale Evening News yesterday: It is a good thing to see the packing-houses opened up again to their full capacity. The Rossmore and the Sparr companies are in full swing after a considerable lay off. They resumed shipping about a week ago. The Sparr Fruit company sends out about seven cars a week. Each of those cars contains 400 boxes.

"Navel oranges did not pay the packers and growers and it will be a good thing for them all if the Valencia are remunerative. At present Valencias are fetching a good price in the eastern markets—about $4 a box, $2.75 f. o. b. Glendale. The lemon market in the east is improving. Lemons bring $1.75 f. o. b. Glendale or about $2.90 in the east."

"For a long time it did not pay to ship lemons. That was, I suppose, on account of the competition of the Italian growers, whose product was admitted by the tariff revision at a reduced rate. This foreign competition has probably been affected by the war as there has been a sudden opening of the markets to the California crop."

"The Valencias are not a heavy crop and are therefore in demand. I believe in having a periodical revision of the tariff by a skilled tariff committee that should be independent of politics. Such a commission would probably keep the tariff just high enough to shut out foreign competition and give our own growers a chance to make a living. This season the packers, after buying outright from the growers, did not realize enough to pay the freight in some instances, but it is difficult to get the grower to understand that."

"There is a good market in some of the neighboring states for lemons and oranges and even for other fruit, but there is little systematic attempt to exploit those markets and good fruit is often allowed to rot on the trees when there is a market at our very doors. Apricots, plums, grapefruit—there is a market for them all. The only difficulty is to get the grower in touch with the purchaser."

"I look for things to improve from this time forward. The country seems to have caught a glimpse of a better time ahead and every one is certainly anxiously wishing for it."

R. M. JACKSON RECOVERING

R. M. Jackson, secretary of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce and also secretary of the Merchants' association, is recovering from several days' serious illness.

He was only recently elected to these offices and he has been exceedingly busy laying plans for the building up of these associations.

countries. He spoke more than two hours and illustrated his talk with stereopticon pictures which proved of great interest to all who were present. He promises to return any time the people may extend an invitation to him.

MAXWELL'S LACK OF FAITH

George H. Maxwell, notes of whose lecture are given elsewhere in this issue of the Evening News, underestimates the manhood of the United States when he refers to her citizens as being weaklings and not able to cope with men of other nations in case of war. If Mr. Maxwell is judging the patriotism of his fellow countrymen from his own heroic spirit, he likely knows whereof he speaks, but it is folly to judge the people of a great nation hastily. The Evening News believes that there are men who are quietly following various industrial, agricultural and professional avocations of life in the United States, who are ready to respond to the call of their country, and with a few months' training outwit and outfight trained soldiers of other nations. Begone with the delusive idea that the citizens of the United States are weaklings and unpatriotic, and may the day be far distant when any man will be allowed to stand upon a public platform in Glendale and make such rash statements as were made by the speaker Friday evening.

We are a peaceful people, we prefer not to go to war, but if war is necessary we are a patriotic people. No nation has a more loyal people than has the United States.

WHITE RIBBON PICNIC

PLAN FOR DRY CAMPAIGN AT THIRD ANNUAL OUTING

An enjoyable event long to be remembered by the members of the W. C. T. U. occurred Friday when over seventy-five white ribboners and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hartley, 104 Verdugo road, to hold their third annual picnic.

All arrangements for the day were made by Superintendent of social affairs, Mrs. O. S. Palmer, assisted by Mrs. Louise Morton, Mrs. P. A. C. Moore and Miss Goff.

A delicious picnic dinner was served under the huge pepper tree and the beautiful and well-kept grounds of this home was one of the attractions of the day.

The county president, Mrs. Julia D. Phelps, was present and offered the noon prayer. It has been the custom of this organization of over a half million members at the noon time of each day to lift their hearts to God to offer thanks for the gift of his Son and to ask for the abolition of the liquor traffic.

After the delightful picnic dinner was enjoyed the president, Mrs. Ruby J. Smart, called for order and a pleasing and instructive program was rendered.

Miss Evangeline Quackenbush played two violin solos.

Mrs. May Knox, superintendent of medal contest work, delighted all present by two comic readings.

Mrs. Knox under her department will give an excellent program next Thursday night at the First M. E. church.

Mrs. Anderson, president of the Burbank union, in two original readings vividly pictured the need of the abolition of the liquor traffic.

Mrs. Julia D. Phelps followed with a stirring address, using as her keynote the "Lincoln Highway."

Mrs. Phelps said when the water wagon was launched on the Lincoln Highway it was drawn by horses and the rate of speed it traveled was slow and difficult. Now the water wagon is being drawn by automobiles and the speed is increasing rapidly, as eighteen states have been made dry with more to follow.

Plans were also advanced for the coming campaign for California Dry.

Another happy feature of this day was the presence of Mrs. Kate Evans who was a diligent worker in our union until two years ago.

The Rev. A. B. Smart gave an impromptu talk of some of the workers in the early temperance work and from his abundant store of knowledge gave many interesting facts.

At the close of the session unique games were enjoyed, after which the happy picnicers exchanged many kind words and the jolly crowd disbanded. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Chas. Grist, 210 Colorado boulevard, next Friday, Aug. 6, at 2:30 p. m. Another happy time is looked forward to.

WATER COMPANY MEETS

There was a good attendance of the directors and officials of the Verdugo Canyon Water company last night. Mr. Arthur Campbell presided. The reports presented showed that the company is in a prosperous condition and that it is able to obtain abundance of water. Certain improvements in the system were authorized. The monthly bills were ordered paid. The rest of the business was merely routine. This is a pipe company. The city of Glendale owns one-fourth of its stock.

OF CHAMPION CALIBER

BILLY BALTHIS, LOCAL TENNIS WINNER, PLAYER OF FIRST RANK

Tennis is a game that calls for an extraordinary co-ordination of every faculty in the human body. It demands a mind of unusual quickness, accurate eyesight and a tensility of muscular development that enables its possessor to answer with promptitude the call of the governing intellect that like a commander of modern armies holds in his grasp all the forces under him and throws them from flank to flank or center at need.

Of course the possession of this extraordinary skill and physical and mental gift is not necessary for the enjoyment of tennis by ordinary players. They get sufficient muscular exercise out of the common easy-going game with just the necessary mental stimulant to make them feel the better for it. It is of the player of first rank we speak. Such a player, whether boy or girl, man or woman, has a special aptitude for the game. They have that enthusiasm for tennis that keeps them on the court often enough to give them the muscular swing and the lithe activity that is seen only in the masters of this fascinating amusement.

Glendale Union High school has in the past produced some excellent players and with the stimulus recently given the game by the institution of the summer playgrounds is likely to produce others who will go far in the lists of tennis. There is just now a healthy rivalry between the different playgrounds that is doing much to cultivate the spirit that develops champions.

One of the most remarkable of the young players of Glendale is Billy Balthis. Billy is somewhere about 15 years of age, we have been told, but he does not look more than twelve. His weight is about 78 pounds. This boy, however, has the most wonderful natural gifts for playing tennis. His court generalship is admirable. He is, it would seem, everywhere at once. His skill in placing the ball just in the place his opponent fails to reach is phenomenal, and above all he is absolutely cool and collected at all times.

Young as he is Balthis beat Ray Morrow, captain of the Southern California Tennis team. He also beat Ed Sadler, captain of Glendale Union High School Tennis team, 1913. He also beat this week in the tennis tournament on the Union High School grounds, Morse Freeman, captain of the High School team of 1915. Playing against Shook and Bowers, players of champion caliber, Balthis held them both to deuce set.

During the games played last season by the High School tennis team Billy won about 80 per cent of the matches. He has beaten many players twice his size and twice his experience. One of the most pleasing features of his character is his modesty, which has made him a great favorite, and even his opponents in the game have the highest praise for him and say that it is doubtful if there is a better player of his size in the United States.

LA CANADA

Deaconess A. P. Butler of St. Paul's Cathedral, Los Angeles, who has been residing in Mrs. F. H. Godfrey's residence the past couple weeks while Mrs. Godfrey was at Long Beach, returned to the city Monday. Mrs. Godfrey also returned to La Canada the first of the week.

Geo. N. Thomas of near Cleveland, Ohio, who has come to California to see the fair and all points of interest, and who has been visiting at the F. H. Granger home while in this locality, left recently for Port Townsend, Wash., where he will make an extended visit before returning to his Ohio home.

TENNIS MATCHES MONDAY

Mr. Julius Lehman, superintendent of the Union High School summer playground, is very anxious that the matches given below be played off Monday. The following junior tennis players are therefore urged to be at the tennis court Monday at the time scheduled: James Richards and partner v. Russell Clark and L. Bassett, 8:30 a. m.; F. Balthis and A. Townsend v. H. Moyle and M. Brown, 9:30 a. m.; K. Whaley and G. Mills v. Elwin Tipton and E. Noyes, 10:30 a. m.; Joe Cummins and partner v. R. Garrett and R. Brown, 11:30 a. m.; R. Witt and Tom Lyon v. D. Snow and B. Dennison, 12:30 p. m.; Art Lindsay and Roy Jefferson v. Merritt Brown and Harold Russell, 1:30 p. m.; R. Ward and D. Manning v. A. M. McDonald and L. Van Epps, 3:30 p. m.

THIRD WET YEAR

PRECAUTIONS NEEDED TO PROTECT PROPERTY ON WASH LINE

Editor Glendale Evening News: While crossing the Verdugo wash at Central Ave. this morning I stopped to look at the condition there and, if I had property near there, I certainly would strive to have a deeper channel dug in the center, to have the Pacific Electric change their piling crossing to a span crossing, to have either a concrete wall or a good supply of heavy rock placed along the south side of the channel. These things seem to me necessary to properly protect the property backing up the wash and to save the track of the Pacific Electric company.

I have not been over any other part of the wash, but I venture to say that there are other parts as urgently in need of improvement as this part.

Persons who have made a study of California conditions say that we have ten years of dry times when there is very little rainfall, and ten years of wet times. They claim that we are in the third year of our wet times now, so, if we are and should have a repetition of what befel us year before last, worse and more damage would be done to our community than before.

This matter should be taken up and pushed to thorough accomplishment.

Very truly yours,
JAMES W. PEARSON.

HONOR DEPARTING BROTHER

Miss Grace Beach and Miss Alice Gray Beach entertained a merry party Friday evening in honor of Mr. Don Webb, who is compelled to return to Storm Lake, Iowa, on business. Those who took part in this happy gathering were Miss Lola East and Chick Carroll, Miss Lillian Lepellman and Capt. John Devar, Miss Francella Billington and Mr. Lamar Johnstone, Miss Wanda Billington and our departing brother, Don Webb, Mr. Sid Simons, J. T. Beach and Bill Bodie. An eight-course dinner was followed by the popular pastime, dancing. The rooms were beautifully decorated and music was furnished by the "J. T.'s" orchestra. During the course of the evening an exhibition dance was given by Miss Lola East and Chick Carroll, the popular young dancers of this city, who are planning to open a dancing school similar to "Denishawn" in Pasadena. Mr. Webb was presented with a handsome gold buttonhook and then started on his journey. To return, we hope, as soon as possible.—Contributed

UNION HIGH WINS

Union High School Playground team showed excellent form Friday by coming back strong in its game against the Central Avenue Playground team and trouncing them by 14 to 7. Raymond Camargo pitched a good game for the High School team and Marcellus Doll handled the catching with great effect. The battery for Central was: Mitchell, pitcher; Bassett, catcher and Reed, catcher.

Both teams used two catchers during the game and the battle was largely one of the batteries. The intermediate boys are playing well and it is merely a question of a short time until some of them will be playing on the first team.

MARKETING OF PRODUCTS

In connection with what is stated in another section of The Glendale Evening News concerning the marketing of fruits and the fact that it needs an agency to put fruits in the markets where demand is great, it may be noted that there appears to be much need of an association of some kind to organize the growers of apricots, peaches, plums and other fruits so that they may receive remunerative prices for their crops. At present a great deal of excellent fruit is allowed to fall to the ground or rot on the tree for want of a market.

It should surely be possible for growers of these fruits to organize themselves into an association; gather knowledge regarding proper methods of growing; learn to devote attention to such crops as would prove remunerative and finally secure the markets to which to ship with the certainty of selling.

To get profit out of any kind of agricultural or orchard product it is necessary to market it in a businesslike manner. Competent management, accurate records and accounts, and proper tools are essential in the conduct of all business enterprises, great or small. The failure of individuals to make profit out of their produce and even of co-operative organizations selling farm and orchard produce may be traced directly or indirectly to the lack of one or more of these essentials.

It is necessary to eliminate waste at every point. The cost of each step of marketing and distributing must be estimated and all waste eliminated. It is interesting to note that the Office of Markets and Rural Organization has been formed by congress and is conducting investigations of the business practices of co-operative and farmers' marketing, distributing and purchasing, and rural business organizations and other agencies of a similar nature.

Systems of accounts are being devised for various types of organizations. Fruit exchanges have received special attention and so have poultry exchanges. The attention of the office is directed toward devising effective and economical methods for such associations as may desire them and it is always ready to study local problems and would be the very source from which advice could be had as to the organizing and marketing of locally grown fruits.

Congress in appointing and further in consolidating two committees of the department of agriculture provided for the collection and distribution of useful information on subjects relating to the marketing and distributing of farm products. The office therefore is in a position to advise and assist those desirous of forming associations for the better marketing of their products.

PUBLICITY OF MARKET NEWS

Many cities of the United States have public markets. Wherever they have been established it has been found that they have been liberally patronized. Los Angeles and San Diego recently extended their public market system and the farmers of the surrounding district and even small local producers have been able to bring their products direct to the consumer without the intervention of the middleman.

There is no doubt that the average housewife suffers an almost daily loss through her lack of knowledge of what products the market most liberally affords and of current quotations on foodstuffs in general. Intelligent publicity of reliable information of this nature should prove to many cities a service rivaling in value any other feature of public market activity.

The city of Berlin, Germany, has worked out this idea very satisfactorily in connection with its municipal wholesale markets. Several municipal sales agents who sell in the central market, either at auction or private sale, report their transactions to the city authorities, and they, in conjunction with the state market police, publish the prices obtained in the wholesale market each day in the Official Market Bulletin.

The practice has proved of considerable service and is very popular with housewives, dealers, trade papers, and all interested in the distribution of food products. It is quite likely that some arrangement of this kind so modified as to suit the differing needs of American cities would prove of great value to shopping housewives.

ELIMINATING GRADE CROSSINGS

No modern city can afford to suffer the continuance of grade crossings in the heart of its business section, or even, in these days of automobiles, on its outskirts. In early days when cities and districts were glad to get railroads to come to them they were very exceedingly lax in their regulations of the roads. The consequence has been that life and limb are constantly endangered by the crossings which are to be found at most inconvenient points throughout many cities.

Los Angeles is a case in point. Autoists know of certain points just about the city limits which are positively dangerous and have a most terrible record of lives lost by collision with railway trains. Other spots could exhibit a disastrous story of accidents from collision with electric cars. Even in the heart of the city the other day a collision between a railway train and a street car was responsible for several deaths and cruel maimings. It is therefore satisfactory to learn that the city is contemplating the construction of six great viaducts which when built will eliminate this grade crossing question and make traffic of all kinds safe.

Many workers in Glendale who have borne the burden and heat of the day are off to the mountains or to the seashore for a well earned rest. For those who are fortunate enough to obtain the vacation, California certainly offers a most wonderful and varied choice of climate and scenery.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

Sunday, Aug. 1, topic, "Little Every-day Kindnesses." Eph. 4:25-32. (Consecration meeting.)

Bible Help

Mutual courtesy, Acts. 28:7-10.
Good rules, 1 Pet. 3:8-11.
Dispenser of kindness, Prov. 15:1-4.
Our example, John 13:1-15.
Lowly service, Matt. 10:40-42.
A widow's reward, 1 Kings 17:8-16.

Seed Notes

A hymn writer has well said, "Satter seeds of kindness," for today as well as in former days there is much need for this Christian grace to be cultivated. And it seems to me in this age of sharp competition along every line of activity more need than ever. "Number one and how to take care of him," the care of "me, my wife, my son John and his wife" claims far too much attention when we consider our next door neighbor has a claim on our attention and interest. Selfishness and kindnesses to others do not harmonize. Thinking less of self and more of others, praying for the grace and spirit to be less critical in our judgment of them, more willing to palliate little inconsistencies in others will most surely show "what manner of spirit we are of," and how much more others will hold us in the kindest regard.

The practical spirit of kindness was most beautifully exemplified by David when he was a time to desert his throne because of Absalom's rebellion, while fleeing, and Shimei, a sympathizer of former king Saul, by the wayside cast stones at David the king, and David did not so much as notice his insults and outrages. David was like trees that yield their fruits to those who throw stones at them.

It is said that in every human breast there is a lurking fiend. This may be so, but we do not know that so often unsought and undiscovered in each heart is the angel of kindness. How much of our human nature we fail to keep under the control of the dominant spirit of love so that kindness and consideration for others may shine. Oft has been said that we never lose anything by being kind either to animals or friends, though the act be ever so little, it counts much. For "a word, a deed, fitly spoken or done, is like apples of gold in pictures of silver."

As followers of the Christ of Nazareth, it is well to hold constantly in mind how much we may be personally at fault ourselves when there is a want of the spirit of kindness shown us by others. We may be so repulsive to some, so short sighted, so over-bearing and impatient still to others, so hypocritical and censorious, that a score of prodigals are kept away from the Master, while at the same time we may want to win them. Let us pray for a larger measure of the Master's blessed spirit of kindness and love. He will give it.

ENGLISH LUTHERAN CHURCH

The world has many needs today; so many comforts and necessities it would be poorer without them; others that are absolutely indispensable. Among these necessities is the Christian church. Imagine what we would do without such an institution to foster, direct and cultivate moral and religious sentiment, the world would be a far worse hell than war-torn, bleeding, suffering Europe today. The subject for consideration in the English Lutheran church Sunday morning is one of much interest to those who think and really want to be helped to appreciate the presence of the church. "Is the Christian Church Needed Today?" Whosoever you are, you are welcome.

were at once made to have him give

DANCE FOR PLAYGROUND

According to reports the attendance at the tennis court dance at the home of Mrs. Ella Richardson, corner
Central avenue and Riverdale drive, tonight will be very gratifying to the active, earnest and enthusiastic hostess, who has worked so successfully for the equipment of the Pacific Avenue playground. As the evening will be delightfully cool and the moonlight romantic enough to suit the fancy of the most poetical the affair will be very attractive to all. Mr. Charles Force has ably assisted Mrs. Richardson to make this function a success, freely giving his skilled services to fit up the tennis court. Mr. Force also worked personally on the erection of the grandstand at the Pacific
Avenue summer playground.

The Thorp orchestra, consisting of
F. E. Thorp, cornet; Miss Gertrude
Thorp, piano; Miss Pauline Thorp, first violin, and Mr. Stone, drums and bells, will supply the music. Admission fifty cents. Take Glendale

WISCONSIN TEACHERS' SALARIES

I was very much surprised to find this official report from Wisconsin. Wisconsin has been held before our eyes so long as the best thing that ever happened educationally, the home of advanced ideas, the mother of reformed plans, the place of the best university in the United States—that we good school teachers have grown to have a superstitious reverence for it and have been hoping to go there when we die. And now what a cruel awakening! How like a dull sickening thud these figures fall! Can it be possible that the overwhelming majority of rural teachers in heavenly Wisconsin get less than $45 per month? That practically all of them get less than $65 per month? Zounds! California looks like the Golden State, sure enough, doesn't it?

It is reported on what appears to be good authority that General French is an American by birth. One more grievance for Berlin.

"HOCH" DER GERMAN SAENGER-FEST

When Gottlieb came from Faderland, with frau and children came along a voice akin to a brass band, and never tiring love of song. Or, if by chance alone he came, not long did he remain love free, but sought him out some Yankee dame to "jolly and sing mit me." And hence it is America is blest with generous song galore, and high art artists sing and play though in the home land cannons roar. As strings and brasses smite the air, what melody in every "toot," wild chorus and sweet solo air, what novice can the "thrill" compute! Oh, come again despite the fair. Not with a campaign four days long, but from thy melodies so rare, give us a whole year's wealth of song. Just bring the present "art" along and we will shout as if possessed. "Hoch for the queens and kings of song, hoch for the German saengerfest."

A subscriber to the Texarkanian writes to that paper: "What kind of dern news do you print, anyhow? One day I noticed that the governor of Georgia is hung in Effigy. The next day I seen he was still alive. Will you please tell me where Effigy is at? I lived in Georgia for twenty years and I never heard of no such town and I don't believe there is any. If you can't print the truth, please stop my paper."

If you do not see mother anywhere else, she probably is in the kitchen, canning and making preserves.

THE RUSSIAN THISTLE

One of the worst weeds in the whole world is the Russian thistle, which is not really a thistle at all. It ranks with the morning glory and Johnson grass as a pest to the farmer, particularly to the farmer who has grain and uncultivated crops. It is a native of Asia and was introduced by the railroads through their construction gangs. It occurs along the railroad lines in many states and is found from one end of California to the other. Every rural youngster should know it so that he can help in the work of controlling it.
